

BRYAN

IF CLEVELAND

HILL

FAC-

IONS

RUN

THE

DEMOCRACY.

THE

SOUTH

DAKOTA

PLATEAU

SAYS

THE

WEST

WOULD

BETTER

HAVE

HARRIS

THAN

CLEVELAND

OR

HILL—

WHERE

THE

INITIATIVE

AND

REFERENDUM

COME

IN?

EX-S

SENATOR

R. F. PETTIGREW

OF

SOUTH

DAKOTA,

WHO

HAS

MADE

OVER

$1,000,000

IN

THE

LAST

TWO

YEARS

AND

STANDS

BRYAN TO BOLT—PETTIGREW.

IF CLEVELAND AND HILL FAC-

IONS RUN THE DEMOCRACY.

The South Dakota Plateau Says the

West Would Rather Have Harris

Than Cleveland or Hill—Where the Initiative and Referendum Come In?

Ex-Senator R. F. Pettigrew of South Dakota, who used to be an octopus hunter, but who has made over $1,000,000 in the last two years and stands in a fair way to make a great deal more money by spending the summer at the Oriental Hotel, Coney Island, where he is watching his investments grow and observing the political development not only in New York State, but throughout the Union. Yesterday Mr. Pettigrew had dinner at the house of Mr. Prof. Garrett, an expert lawyer of the department of political economy of the Imperial University of Tokyo, but now of South Dakota, and George Shibley of Washington, one of the lead press agents of the Initiative and Referendum at the table on the piazza of the hotel, and the company was talking of the future of the nation.

Mr. Shibley thinks that all his and disease of the body politic will disappear at once on the adoption of the initiative and referendum. He regards the referendum as of even more importance than the initiative, but he is far more conservative than Mr. Shibley. He wants to see the referendum incorporated in the Democratic platform in 1904 and he is enlisting the support of Mr. Pettigrew, Mr. Du Bois, and Prof. Garrett. He has a long and intricate scheme for the successful injection of his plans into American politics, via the Democratic party if possible, but if need be through a new party, the nucleus of which are to be the Liberal Democrats that are being formed all over the country. Liberal Democrats have been formed in this State, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Iowa, Ohio and several other States, and there will be organizations in every State before the end of the year if the present plans are carried out.

Mr. Pettigrew was in a very talkative state yesterday for a Democrat. "I will not be a candidate in the next campaign, but he will have a powerful influence on the platform that will be adopted, and he will have a great deal to do with the management of the campaign. If the party is won back by Mr. Hill and his associates will form a new party which will represent the views and wishes of the Democrats of the country."

Hill and Cleveland stand for the same things that Mark Hanna stands for, but neither of them is so able as Mark Hanna. If it should come to a question of supporting Hanna or supporting Hill and Cleveland the men who are in the majority would support Hanna. I personally would prefer to support Hanna.

Cleveland is a weak man. No other American has ever dared to prostitute the greatest and most powerful office in the gift of the people to the interests of a personal gain of himself and his friends. The silver issue is dead, but the other principles woven into the Kansas case are still being fought by the people of the West, and there has been no change in sentiment among them in regard to the question of the ownership of the railroads. The silver issue is dead, but the other principles woven into the Kansas case are still being fought by the people of the West, and there has been no change in sentiment among them in regard to the question of the ownership of the railroads.

The Government ownership of railroads is one of the things that the Democratic Party demand in their platform, and denunciation of Hill is their pastime. So Mr. Pettigrew is in pretty bad luck. Mr. Shibley said that he was going to have the reel printed and that then he would give copies of it to all who were interested.

Prof. Garrett kept very still during the talk, like Mr. Hill in the campaign of 1896.

BRYAN AGAINST HIS PARTY.

To Work Against Indiana Democrats in the Coming Campaign.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 20.—Judge Seymour Riddle, one of the prominent southern Indiana Democrats and an ardent supporter of Bryan, returned from the West to-day, where he had a long talk with Mr. Bryan at his home in Lincoln.

Presumably as a result of this conference, Judge Riddle announced that he would oppose the Democratic party in the coming campaign and that he would speak against the election of the Democratic ticket and Congressman Miers of the Second district. He said he had been urged to make the race against Miers for Congress, but would not do that, though he would make speeches against him.

PUT BRYAN OFF AT BUFFALO?

Local Democrats Leaders Don't Want Him There to Interfere With Primaries.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 20.—When the local Democratic leaders heard to-day that William D. Bryan was coming to Buffalo early in September several of them decided that they would see Norman E. Mack, who is likely to be Mr. Bryan's host, and have him try to keep the Democratic away. The Democratic primaries will be held on Sept. 16 and the leaders do not want any Bryanism to bother them at that time.

AGAINST McLAUGHLIN'S ORDERS.

The Attempt to Hoist Cole's Candidacy at Brooklyn Primaries.

On the eve of his departure for Jamestown, L. I., last week Hugh McLaughlin gave explicit orders to his lieutenants to discourage any movement on the part of the Assembly district leaders to send in a slate of delegates to the Democratic State convention. He expressed his strong disapproval of urging in any way the claims of a Brooklyn man for a place on the State ticket. It is Mr. McLaughlin's opinion that the only chance for the Democrats in the Assembly district this fall is to impress the public with the idea that the delegates to the convention are absolutely untrammelled by local preferences.

PECK OUTFOOTED THE PAYNE.

NEW HAVEN CAPTAIN IS SURE THIS WAS A REAL RACE.

He Says He Threatened the Life of the Bridgeport Boat—A Two-Mile Gain From The Point to Penfield Light Reported—And Drinks Were Free.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 20.—Capt. Edgar Hardy of the Richard Peck, the Queen of the Sound, as he and the New Haven steamboat officials on the boat, said last night that the Peck thrashed the life out of the William G. Payne of the Bridgeport line, in a race up the Sound from Throg's Point, where the two met on practically even terms on Saturday afternoon, to Penfield Light, where the Bridgeport steamer had to turn off to go to Bridgeport. At the time of separation the Payne was over two miles astern of the Peck.

Up till Saturday's brush the officials of the Payne had been saying that their boat had on two occasions within a month made the Peck look like a canaille, so far did the Payne leave the New Haven boat in the race. Capt. Hardy and the crew of the Peck reported that there had not been any race and that the Bridgeport people were trying to get glory on a fictitious foundation.

This brought out from the President of the Bridgeport Steamboat Company the statement that he was ready to back his boat with $1,000 that she could beat the Peck, the winner to give the purse to a hospital selected by the victor. That closed the question of supremacy then, for the leaving time of the Payne from the Sound was short and the Peck had a chance to get together until Saturday. Then they had it out, according to Capt. Hardy's version, the Peck pulling away from the Payne as if the latter had dropped an anchor that was dragging on the bottom of the Sound.

The log of the Peck shows that she left Peck Slip, New York, at 2:06, a little early because of a slight delay in getting under way. At 2:40, passed North Brother Island at 2:45, Whitehouse Point at 2:54, Whitehouse Point at 3:04, and reached Throg's Point at 3:24.

As the Peck passed Throg's Point Capt. Hardy told the Payne heading up the Sound that he was going to beat the Payne out to the course, which was about opposite Throg's Neck, where the Sound widens. There was a big passenger list on the New Haven boat, and the Bridgeport steamer had a large-sized crowd aboard.

BROOKLYN BRANTIES COMED LOW.

A Treasure House for Lumbermen Opened Up in Mindanao.

LAKE LANS EXPEDITION, Mindanao, P. I., May 16. Now that the island of Mindanao has been opened up by the Americans it may be of interest to learn something of the valuable woods of the country.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States. The island has a large area of forest, and the Americans are now cutting and exporting to the United States.

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

Peck Outfooted the Payne. The man about town could be satisfied that he had really made his mark on his generation when a dish or a drink was named in his honor by some restaurant of the best class. The reputation of several men formerly well known is kept alive by the bill of fare of a certain city restaurant.

Badger Bunch. It was called after the man who taught the chef its ingredients and a "Sam Ward" cocktail has not none of the charm it possessed when its inventor introduced it himself.

It happened that a young New Yorker of the present generation not long ago decided that his reputation was in need of some such corroborative testimony. He wanted to leave something that might carry his name one notch in the history of this city for generations down to fame with the future whose great life in eating and drinking is still celebrated on the bills of fare. His ambition was fortunately advanced by the fact that the chef of the restaurant came to his notice just at that time. With the bottle was the formula for a certain cocktail that the chef declared to be excellent. It was in reality a fine combination and the young New Yorker conceived the idea of fastening his name to the concoction.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

Peck Outfooted the Payne. The man about town could be satisfied that he had really made his mark on his generation when a dish or a drink was named in his honor by some restaurant of the best class. The reputation of several men formerly well known is kept alive by the bill of fare of a certain city restaurant.

Badger Bunch. It was called after the man who taught the chef its ingredients and a "Sam Ward" cocktail has not none of the charm it possessed when its inventor introduced it himself.

It happened that a young New Yorker of the present generation not long ago decided that his reputation was in need of some such corroborative testimony. He wanted to leave something that might carry his name one notch in the history of this city for generations down to fame with the future whose great life in eating and drinking is still celebrated on the bills of fare. His ambition was fortunately advanced by the fact that the chef of the restaurant came to his notice just at that time. With the bottle was the formula for a certain cocktail that the chef declared to be excellent. It was in reality a fine combination and the young New Yorker conceived the idea of fastening his name to the concoction.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

Peck Outfooted the Payne. The man about town could be satisfied that he had really made his mark on his generation when a dish or a drink was named in his honor by some restaurant of the best class. The reputation of several men formerly well known is kept alive by the bill of fare of a certain city restaurant.

Badger Bunch. It was called after the man who taught the chef its ingredients and a "Sam Ward" cocktail has not none of the charm it possessed when its inventor introduced it himself.

It happened that a young New Yorker of the present generation not long ago decided that his reputation was in need of some such corroborative testimony. He wanted to leave something that might carry his name one notch in the history of this city for generations down to fame with the future whose great life in eating and drinking is still celebrated on the bills of fare. His ambition was fortunately advanced by the fact that the chef of the restaurant came to his notice just at that time. With the bottle was the formula for a certain cocktail that the chef declared to be excellent. It was in reality a fine combination and the young New Yorker conceived the idea of fastening his name to the concoction.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

Peck Outfooted the Payne. The man about town could be satisfied that he had really made his mark on his generation when a dish or a drink was named in his honor by some restaurant of the best class. The reputation of several men formerly well known is kept alive by the bill of fare of a certain city restaurant.

Badger Bunch. It was called after the man who taught the chef its ingredients and a "Sam Ward" cocktail has not none of the charm it possessed when its inventor introduced it himself.

It happened that a young New Yorker of the present generation not long ago decided that his reputation was in need of some such corroborative testimony. He wanted to leave something that might carry his name one notch in the history of this city for generations down to fame with the future whose great life in eating and drinking is still celebrated on the bills of fare. His ambition was fortunately advanced by the fact that the chef of the restaurant came to his notice just at that time. With the bottle was the formula for a certain cocktail that the chef declared to be excellent. It was in reality a fine combination and the young New Yorker conceived the idea of fastening his name to the concoction.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.

The plan succeeded admirably. He called for the cocktail in a loud voice so that his neighbors were aware of his achievement. He called it by his name. Even the waiters finally baptized it with the same title.

But the ambitions of this young man about town, who had a selfless and unselfish desire to leave a mark on the city, were not satisfied. He wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city, and he wanted to leave a mark on the city.